PERSONAL AND LITERARY.

The most popular and successful newspaper writer is the paragrapher. His work is always read.—New Tennessee Whig.

William F. Laffan, who succeeds the late Isaac W. England as publisher of the New York Sigl, is the "Owl" of the Telegraph Club, and edited Harper's "Christian."

Garibaldi's "memories" will not be published until ten years have elapsed from the time of his death. This is in accordance with the wish of the Italian Government.

Charlotte M. Younge is now in her sixty-third year. She began to write in 1854, and "one hundred" and twenty books, of various sizes, bear tribute to her incessant energy.—N. Y. Sun.

Judge John H. Orvis, of Belchertown, Pa., has just heard from a brother who was supposed to have been drowned during a "Mississippi-River steamer explosion thirty-two years ago." He is living in Nebraska.—Pittsburgh Post.

The oldest actor was Jean Noel, who died in Paris January 13, 1829, aged 118 years. He entered the profession in his eighth year, and still acted when 100 years old, having represented in all, 2,700 roles. He acted 28,010 times.

Rev. David Winters, who died at Dayton, O., recently, had been in the ministry for sixty years, and had said to have married more people than any other man in the country. Up to April 29, he had married 5,000 couples.—Clerical Leader.

The name of Rev. Dr. Jerry Sanderson, who died recently at Hyde Park, near Boston, aged eighty-two years, is unfamiliar to many of the present generation. But forty years ago he was one of the best-known writers and lecturers of the day.

The fiftieth anniversary of the marriage of Samuel Brown Hayes and Miss Rebecca Hosmer was celebrated at their residence in Bolton, Mass., lately, where they have lived fifty years. Mrs. Hayes was the fourth daughter of the late Nathan David Hosmer of Acton, and is the fourth child in the family who has celebrated a golden wedding.—Boston Journal.

Charles Welford, of the firm of Charles Scribner's Sons, died in London a few days ago from the lingering effects of a serious attack of pneumonia which he suffered about a year ago. He was an Englishman by birth, but had many interests and ties in this country which made him regard it with affection. Few men knew more of books and authors than he is said to have done.

—J. T. Herald.

The correspondence of Peter the Great is being prepared for publication. A committee of Russian literary men was appointed to bring together the material for such a work, and so far as regards the documents collected, their task that they have collected more than eight thousand letters and documents of the highest interest relating to the great Czar. Among these documents are some of the exercise books in which the young Peter wrote his writing lessons. There is also a letter dated 1688, in which Peter, only six years old, describes to his mother the works which he had seen in progress in the shipbuilding yards at Peterhof.

TUESDAY EVE., AUG. 4, 1885.

Committee Meeting.

The members of the reception committee, with reference to the soldiers' home, are requested to meet at the city council room this (Tuesday) evening, at 8 o'clock, to transact important business. The members of all the other committees are respectfully requested to meet with the reception committee.

JASON ROGERS,
Chairman.

The Grant memorial services in Westminster Abbey to day will be attended by many Englishmen of title and distinction.

FUMIGATION, among the Spaniards, is sometimes worse than the cholera, as is shown by the fate of the luckless wretches suffocated while inhaling the sulphurous fumes intended to destroy the germs of disease lingering about them.

We are in receipt of an invitation to attend the Grant memorial services at Springfield, on the 8th. Addresses appropriate to the occasion will be delivered by Senator Gallon, Ex Gov. Palmer, and Hon. Robert T. Lincoln.

The commissioners to locate the soldiers' home hold a meeting at Springfield last night, four of the seven members being present, Col. Berry, the president of the commission, was in favor of starting out at once on the tour of inspection, but the fixing of the time to begin the work was postponed until to day, when it was expected that all the members would be on hand.

A CORRESPONDENT of the Chicago Tribune in summing up the losses of Illinois in the war of the rebellion gives the following figures: Officers—Killed in action, 339; died of wounds, 212; died of disease, 310. Men—Killed in action, 5,535; died of wounds, 3,818; died of disease, 22,470. This includes those who died in prison, and makes total of 34,834. New York and Pennsylvania alone are in advance of Illinois in the number of lives sacrificed in the war of the rebellion. Illinois not only gave to the country Lincoln and Grant, but also a more brilliant galaxy of volunteer officers than any other state, while the heroism and bravery of her men in line is without parallel.

Quite unexpectedly to the world at large the announcement is made that Gen. John A. Logan has a book of war experiences ready for the press. The chances are that it will be a very interesting work. It will probably, in some important sense of fact, take Gen. Sherman's "Memories" to task. Logan has rested easily for ten years under what he considers the injustice done to him by Sherman. He is especially sore about Sherman's account of the battle of Atlanta, in which he receives very little of the credit which he believes to be due him. If he writes as he feels on this and other subjects pertaining to the war to the South, his book will create a good deal of controversy.

DR. DODD, one of Grant's physicians, has written a letter to his sister in which he pays the following eloquent tribute to his late distinguished patient:

"Building the Tomb." New York, August 4.—A shelter of planks and canvas was hastily built over General Grant's tomb at Riverside Park yesterday, and work went on through the night to complete it. The Park Commissioners Crimmins, up in the head of the downpour and stood under his umbrella watching the workers. He telegraphed to the property clerk of the park department to go down into South street and buy a ship's awning to shelter the tomb, but a sail was rigged up to-morrow on a tent pole and stuck over the tomb on poles. Two thousand of the imported parrotail chameaued back were received in the morning, and the work of building the interior wall of the tomb was pushed forward rapidly.

"Struck a Bonanza." CINCINNATI, O., August 3.—A timber excavation was taken yesterday to 10 feet Pleasant, General Grant's birth place, by the steamer Andy Baum. The boat was fully jammed. Arriving at Pleasant, it was found that the owner of the historical log house had made ample provision for the coming of the Cincinnati crowd. A quiet draw op around the structure, and audience could only be gained by paying fifteen cents. Not only this, but no one was allowed within the yard, and a score

"$250 Wanted." The finance committee for the Grant memorial service, B. O. Reynolds, O. B. Gorin and John A. Dawson, have placed subscription papers at each of the Decatur banks. The sum of $250 will be required to defray expenses. Everybody is urged to call at either of the banks and contribute liberally to the fund.

Mr. John P. St. John has written a letter for the purpose of saying that he did not write to President Cleveland asking the appointment of ex-Senator S. C. Pomeroy, of Kansas, as one of the Commissioners for the District of Columbia. Mr. Pomeroy says that Mr. St. John did write such a letter. One of these Prohibition politicians talks the truth; of course the other tells something else. They can settle the question of veracity between them. As to that, however, the general public would probably require additional testimony to support even an uncontradictable statement which either of them might make.

GENERAL GRANT is reported in the Newport News to have said: "I always had an aversion to Napoleon and the whole family. When I was in Denmark, I declined seeing the Prince Imperial. I did not wish to see him. The first Emperor had great genius, but was one of the most selfish and cruel men in history. I see no redeeming trait in his character. The third Napoleon was even worse, the especial enemy of America and of liberty."

BY TELEGRAPH

A STORMY DAY.

Hotel and Cottage Closed and Log Fires Lighted on the Hearths,

But Train-Loads of Visitors Ascending Mt. McGregor to See the Body of the Dead Hero

General Hancock's Modesty and Good Taste—Cost of the Pageant—Struck a Bonanza.

At Mt. McGregor.

Mr. McCREAON, N. Y., August 4.—Yesterday afternoon and evening were stormy. Hotel and cottage doors were closed and log fires lighted. Trains arriving, however, were filled with visitors, and until six o'clock the people were admitted to view the body. If today is stormy no veranda service will be held, and the audience will be limited to the capacity of the cottage. Dr. Newman has telegraphed approval of the use of the G. A. R. ritual service at the tomb Saturday by Meade Post, of Philadelphia.

The salutes ordered for to-day are thirteen guns at sunrise, thirty-eight guns at noon, one-half hour after sunset. A guard of regulars will remain around the cottage till the end of the week. Colonel Grant has invited all representatives of foreign Governments to attend the funeral Saturday. Those accepting are requested to notify General Grant. General French, Mrs. H. L. Dent, N. K. Moore, and U. S. Grant, son of Orville Grant, arrived last night.

Mr. McCREAON, N. Y., August 4.—General Hancock arrived here this morning. He telegraphed here from Saratoga that no salutes should be fired in his honor upon his arrival at Mt. McGregor, as it would be in bad taste. The General marched at the head of his staff up the slope to the cottage, where he was met by Colonel Grant. None but the General and his staff officers were admitted to the cottage at that time, but later the doors were thrown open to the general public.

Pageant Preparations.

NEW YORK, August 4.—Rear Admiral Jones proposes that four companies of infantry, two of marines and two of blue jackets, under command of Lieutenant-Commander N. W. Moon shall form part of the escort on the arrival of General Grant's remains on Wednesday. On Friday he proposes to direct all the naval vessels and such other public and private vessels as may be available to participate in the ceremonies of Saturday, to anchor in the North River at or near Riverside Park. Captain O. F. Stanton, chief of staff, and Lieutenant W. H. Emory will be in charge of the pageant, and for anchoring the vessels. On Saturday, the 10th, the pageant, consisting of three battalions, one of marines, one of blue jackets and a third of artillery, all under Commander H. B. Robeson, will form a part of the pageant. In pursuance of this plan, the steamer "Tuscarora" will be sent to New Haven, the "Saratoga" and the "Alliance" will move up the North River on Friday morning and anchor in column in close order on the left bank at or near Riverside Park as possible. Admiral Jones suggests that Government officials, members of the various organizations desirous to participate in the ceremonies should be invited to attend and that upon their arrival at Riverside Park they march in close order in columns of five south of the men-of-war.

Cost of the Pageant. NEW YORK, August 4.—Great pageants are very expensive, and the funeral of General Grant will cost more than antient to erect over his grave one of the finest monuments that the world has ever seen. The cost of the pageant will be borne by the dead soldier. The great expense of a military parade will have to be met either by the Government or the members of the various organizations. The expenses of the visiting soldiers will have to be paid for by some one. The invited parades will be provided for in various ways. Horses must be provided for the long lines of carriages and driven by men who regard the almighty dollar with exceeding affection. In fact, so much money will be required by a great funeral, such as General Grant's, to dispose of money that the entire outlay will be nearly $1,000,000.

It is somewhat curious to record that, except in half dozen isolated instances, none of the organizations, whether military, naval or civic, which have been invited to participate in the pageant, will be represented. The cost of the pageant will be borne by the dead soldier. The great expense of a military parade will have to be met either by the Government or the members of the various organizations. The expenses of the visiting soldiers will have to be paid for by some one. The invited parades will be provided for in various ways.

Horses must be provided for the long lines of carriages and driven by men who regard the almighty dollar with exceeding affection. In fact, so much money will be required by a great funeral, such as General Grant's, to dispose of money that the entire outlay will be nearly $1,000,000.

Appointed. WASHINGTON, D. C., August 4.—The President has appointed Baker P. Lee Collector of Customs at Yorktown, Va., who was recently suspended and Adelaidon, collector of customs for the District of Minnesota, vice Bookwalter, suspended.

The Secretary of the Treasury has appointed Joseph R. Owens of Maryland, a chief of division in the Second Auditor's office, and Ernest P. Baldwin, of Missouri, a chief of division in the office of the Comptroller of the Currency.

WATERPORT. WASHINGTON, D. C., August 4.—The President has appointed Baker P. Lee Collector of Customs at Yorktown, Va., who was recently suspended and Adelaidon, collector of customs for the District of Minnesota, vice Bookwalter, suspended.

The Secretary of the Treasury has appointed Joseph R. Owens of Maryland, a chief of division in the Second Auditor's office, and Ernest P. Baldwin, of Missouri, a chief of division in the office of the Comptroller of the Currency.

WATSON CUTTING AFFRAY. LAMIA, Mo., August 4.—A serious cutting affray occurred yesterday morning about one mile south of here, at the Koontz farm. The difficulty originated in the payment of a note, two parties claiming the money due on the note. Everett McCoy was seriously, perhaps fatally, wounded in the groin and abdomen by D. R. Shouse, whose son is in jail.

DECLINED THE PRESIDENCY. BOSTON, MASS., August 4.—Rev. Dr. T. Duryea has declined the Presidency of Union College and will remain pastor of the Central Congregational Church in this city.

FROM WASHINGTON.

CATTENIAN INTERVIEW SECRETARY LAMAR. WASHINGTON, D. C., August 4.—Messrs. Hunter, Rainwater, Denman and Maltby, representing the cattlemen who have leases of land in the Indian Territory, arrived here Saturday night, and had an interview yesterday afternoon with Secretary Lamar, with a view to securing an audience with the President. In the meantime, however, the President, in his absence, had a conference with the Secretary of State, which took place on Sunday morning, and the interview was deferred. Secretary Lamar listened attentively to their statements, but in view of the fact that the delegation is to have an interview with the President to day, withheld any expression of opinion.

WATSON CUTTING AFFRAY.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., August 4.—A tremendous waterport passed over Transylvania County, this State, yesterday, carrying away bridges and washing away houses. The water is said to have moved for ten minutes, in which time it moved about a mile, luctuating to the shore, and finally broke on the land about Willow Beach. Those who saw the scene specifically pronounce it the most magnificent sight they ever beheld.

WATSON CUTTING AFFRAY.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., August 4.—Extreme waterhouse are reported on the Erie Railroad ten miles west of Port Jersey, N. J. No trains have passed either way for five hours. Washouts and floods also reported in Pennsylvania between Philadelphia and Jersey City.

SALLY ON THE WAR-PATH.

LEXINGTON, KY., August 4.—The usual number of gulls occurred during the election yesterday. The watch-house was filled several times with informants, fighters, etc., who were bated out by different parties in order to vote. The Sheriff and deputies arrested quite a number of regular and special police for interfering at the polls. At the time of the election, nine miles from the town, Mr. Charles Walker, in his wife's room, expressed great sorrow that the apartment was not on the fourth floor instead of the second. Walker's injuries are not very serious.

Late Improvements

-- IN --

American Watches.

It is always our aim to keep up with the times, and just as the Watch Council make important improvements we are always pushing the others to bring prices that are in line with our prices to see us making of a watch
